Park Pride's Friends of the Park Groups to Benefit from a Wells Fargo Grant
Grant will expand Friends of the Park Program offerings, strengthening communities

Atlanta, GA, November 7, 2016 – Park Pride, the only Atlanta-based nonprofit that engages communities to activate the power of parks, received a $7,500 grant from Wells Fargo to increase and expand the resources provided through the Friends of the Park \(FOP\) Program to increase citizen engagement in neighborhood parks.

Park Pride recognizes that great parks increase the quality of life in urban environments by supporting healthy people, strong neighborhoods, vibrant business districts, a robust economy and the natural environment. Working with nearly 100 local Friends of the Park groups in the City of Atlanta and DeKalb County, the nonprofit provides the leadership and services to help communities advocate for and make needed improvements to their neighborhood parks. FOP Program resources offered by Park Pride helps groups to identify priority projects for their park, and provides volunteers, tools, materials, training and funding to achieve their goals.

"Parks positively impact nearly every aspect of a neighborhood," said Mike Donnelly, Wells Fargo's Atlanta Region President. "At Wells Fargo, we deeply understand the importance of making each community as strong and vibrant as possible, so we are thrilled to be a part of helping Park Pride lead the way in improving parks, increasing greenspace and educating our neighbors about how to help."

The Wells Fargo grant awarded to Park Pride will support the growing needs of the Friends of the Park Program, providing educational workshops, reference and resource materials, and park play equipment through the Park Play Library.

"We're grateful for the support from Wells Fargo," stated Michael Halicki, Park Pride's executive director. "This grant will support Park Pride's core mission, allowing us to more fully engage communities to activate the power of parks and reach more people through the Friends of the Park Program."
